‘K’Echo

During 1950 and 1951, we had you as our eighth grade home room teacher. This proved to be one of the happiest years of our school life. The boys, when they entered high school, were privileged to have you instruct their P. E. classes and coach their basketball team; but the girls of our class had to wait until their senior year to again be in your class. In future years when we think of our high school days, we will remember you, Mr. Irvin, as an outstanding teacher and a fine friend. For this reason we wish to dedicate the 1955 "K" Echo to you.

Here we are near the end of another school year, and, as always, our happiness at the thought of graduating is tinged with sadness at having to leave the place where we have enjoyed ourselves so much and where we have made so many friends.

High school has meant studying - history, Latin, shorthand, algebra, everything from American literature to baking a cake.

But we've learned other things, too - responsibility, initiative, and cooperation, through extra-curricular activities, such as music, athletics, and clubs. We've held offices in classes and organizations, learning to govern ourselves, and we've competed with others for honors.

Then, too, there have been all of those important little things, the gab fests, the bus rides, noon hour strolls, going to basketball games, to band contests, and to proms. The past four years are a kaleidoscope of faces and scenes and events.

The 1955 "K" Echo will try to help you relive the past year and enable you to recall, we hope with nostalgia, familiar scenes and faces of Kenney High School.

THE SKELTON WALKS

The plot was laid in a lonely old house situated on a small island connected to the mainland by only one bridge. To this deserted place came Elaine Blair, her lawyer-finance, Bill Clayton, and her mother, Mrs. Madge Embrey, to look over the property which Elaine had inherited at her uncle's death. To their surprise they found the house in the possession of a suave and mysterious physician, Dr. Fersig by name, his sinister housekeeper, Mrs. Hubbard, and her deaf-mute son, Ollie.

The old house was worthless, but both Elaine and Dr. Fersig knew that a large sum of money was secreted somewhere on the premises. Thinking the visitors had left the island, and wanting to search for the money unmolested, Dr. Fersig directed the deaf-mute to blow up the bridge. But to his chagrin they returned, having stopped at an old well on the island to eat a picnic supper. Because the bridge was destroyed, they decided to spend the night in the old house.

And now things began to happen. Strange, ethereal noises were heard. A skeleton walked through the dim shadows of the house. Elaine suddenly disappeared. Bill makes a strange discovery. At the end come the big surprise-- something the audience never anticipated.

THE FIGHTING FISHERS

Peggy Fisher--an attractive girl of seventeen--Donna Hunt
 Mitch Curruthers--her boy friend--Mason Parker
 Bill Fisher--Peggy's brother--Wes Williams
 Janet Fisher--Peggy's mother--Marilyn Abbott
 George Fisher--Peggy's father--Paul Stoutenborough
 Joy Kirby--a tomboy of sixteen--Mettie Spencer
 Charles Griffith--a millionaire stock broker--Bob Laramee
 Don Griffith--his son--Terry Robinson
 Trudy Brown--Bill's girl friend--Norma Burdine
 Jerry Griffith--the main brat--Bill Morse
 Norma Griffith--his sister--Judy Monts
 Mildred Griffith--their older sister--Betty Jensen
 Mrs. Perkins--the Fisher's neighbor--Darlene Koons
 Mrs. Curruthers--Mitch's mother--Linda Boyd
 Mrs. Jones--director

The fighting Fisher family was down to their last borrowed nickel, because Pop Fisher had been counting on the eventual success of his paint business. What he needed was capital and Charles Griffith might have the answer. It looked pretty good until the two Fisher kids came face to face with the Griffith's undisciplined tribe of four noisy, destructive adolescent brats. Their arrival only made for more laughs for the audience.

Mrs. Curruthers - "I've met the real Griffith, the sad old man behind the hard shell. I'm in love, Mrs. Fisher."

Mitch - "Listen, Bud, I've taken enough from you."

Peggy - "Daddy, do you mean I can't go?"

Jerry - "Aw heck, girls never like snakes."

Senior Class Prophecy

These are items taken from Donna's Diary in the year 1975.

May 12

I received an invitation from Darlene Koons, now a farmer's wife, to come to her house for a three day visit. The visit is to include attendance at the graduation exercise of the class of "75" and afterwards a party of an many of the class of "55" as possible.

May 23

Started on my journey back to Kenney by train and who should be the engineer but Terry Robinson. Boy! we had quite a time talking about our former classmates. He told me that he often talked with Wes Williams as Wes is now a Certified Public Accountant and travels frequently on this train. Afterwards I proceeded to the dining car for lunch and as I sat there who should walk in but Linda Boyd who was also going back to Kenney for the reunion. Linda said she was living in Los Angeles and models clothes for a fashion magazine.

May 24

I arrived at Darlene's and was pleasantly surprised to see Marilyn Abbott was already there to meet me and I wasn't at all surprised to find Marilyn married and traveling in a trailer with her husband who is a civil engineer.

May 25

After the other members of the class arrived we went to the graduation exercise as a group and the public was surely surprised to see us. Following we went to the Provincial Dining Room in Springfield where we had had our Jr - Sr Banquet in 1954.

Following the dinner each of the people present gave a report of their activities since graduation.

Mettie Spencer has her own beauty shop in Decatur.

Norma Burdine writes a syndicated Love-Lorn column for the Chicago Daily News.

Paul Stoutenborough told us the Hot-Rod which he drove to the party had been built in his Industrial Arts class which he teaches in Kenney.

Bob Laramie is now a livestock breeder.

Judy Monts is now principal at Kenney Grade School since Miss Brelsford retired.

Mason Parker revealed to the public that it was he who modified the plans for the reconstruction of the Gratian Organ Factory.

We were all enjoying ourselves talking over old times and listening to organ music when they wheeled in a television set and tuned in a program called "Bill's Best Bangs" and who should we see but Bill Morse. He is really going places with those tall tales of his. As it was getting into the late hours of the morning we decided to call it a day. We were all invited to an early breakfast at Marilyn's the following morning.

May 26

Everyone arrived at Marilyn's bright and early. We had breakfast and talked some more about old times and then some of us had to catch trains and planes, including me--you see, I am now an airline stewardess for TWA. I am quite sure everyone had a marvelous time and we all wish we could get together more often.
